Columbus and Mecon have both received the organization committee to establish a regional bank in Atlanta.

ACTION BY COLUMBUS.

On Monday the Columbus Clearing House association unanimously adopted resolutions setting forth in strong terms the reasons why Atlanta should be chosen as the site of a regional bank for the southeastern states.

These resolutions, with the letter from G. L. Jordan, president of the Columbus clearing house to the Atlanta clearing house, were forwarded to the following banks:

ATLANTA NATIONAL BANK,

Columbus, Ga., Jan. 6, 1914.

Honorable Secretary of the Treasury,

Honorable Secretary of Agriculture,

Honorable Comptroller of the Currency,

The Real Estate Bank Organization Committee,

Washington, D. C.

"We, I have the honor to enclose herewith a copy of the resolutions adopted unanimously at the meeting of the Columbus Clearing House association held this day, indicating the preference of all the banks composing that association for Atlanta, Ga., to be selected as the location of one of the regional reserve banks.

It is the intention of the banks of Columbus to lay the resolutions before the members of the federal reserve banks before they meet at the annual meeting to be held in January. It is confidently believed that every national bank here will become a member and some of the state banks also.

Very respectfully,

G. L. JORDAN, President,

Columbus Clearing House

Association.

THE RESOLUTIONS:

Whereas, the sixty-third congress of the United States passed an act known as the Federal Reserve act, creating out less than eight nor more than twelve regional banks, to be located in federal reserve cities;

Whereas, the location of these regional banks is left entirely with the respective banking organizations, and which committee will naturally be called largely by the wishes of the banks and the people to be served;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the organized banks, composing the Columbus clearing House association of Columbus, Ga., that they most respect-

Yields to Death

MR. J. R. WYLIE, PIONEER, IS DEAD AT AGE OF 82

Deceased Atlantian Resided Here Before War-Helped in City's Growth

After an illness of two months, James H. Wylie, one of Atlanta's most prominent and best beloved pioneer citizens, died Wednesday morning at 2 o'clock at his residence, 289 Peachtree St. He was in his eighty-third year, which would have been completed on February 2. He had lived, despite his age, in very fairly good health until six or seven weeks ago, at which time he became ill. He sank continuously until the day of his death.

The friends will be greatly regretful in Atlanta, where his friends are many. Before the invasion of Sherman's army, he was a resident here. After the war he entered actively into the building of the city.

Mr. Wylie was a native South Carolinian, having been born in Chester, S. C. He came to Atlanta in 1847, and was in the city for the remainder of his life. He was a member of the Board of Trade and the Board of Public Safety.

Just prior to the war he came with his family to Atlanta to live. When Sherman invaded the city they became fugitives for his family and he moved away. In 1865 he returned to Atlanta. Later he opened a wholesale grocery business under the name of James H. Wylie & Co., his office being at the corner of Broad and Poplar streets.

Mr. Wylie took a deep interest in the welfare of the city, and was identified with numerous progressive enterprises. He was an incorporator of the Mercantile bank and was president of the old Farmers' bank, which is now the Fourth National bank. He was also president of the Piedmont Exposition company from 1887 to 1892, and was director of the first cotton exposition, the Lewis and San Juan, being the two other directors. He was a charter member of the chamber of commerce and of the Young Men's Library association, and took an active and enthusiastic part in its movement for the good of the city.

He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Louisa O'Callaghan. Three children survive from that marriage. They are Mrs. Wylie and Mrs. R. E. Filer, of Atlanta, and Mrs. John W. Saunders, of Houston, Tex.

He was married the second time to his late wife, Miss Sarah O'Callaghan, who died some time ago. They are the parents of Mr. and Mrs. Wylie, who are some distance away, and who are in Atlanta for the funeral.

Funeral arrangements will be made by the funeral home of J. W. Wylie, of Peachtree St. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the family.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back Its Color and Lustre With Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mix the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 19 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wet's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not strictly an ailment, it retards the youthfulness and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wet's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with the tonic and draw it down your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application of your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—(Adv.)

HOOTS NEGRO OFF DEATH ALTHOUGH TRYING HIMSELF

Helena Marshall Killed Just Before He Was to Have Quit Office.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
HELENA, Ga., Jan. 7.—While attempting to make an arrest last Tuesday afternoon just a few hours before he was retired from office, H. T. Vance, marshal of Helena, a negro shot and killed by Harris Finch, a negro from Erie, Pa. After receiving his death wound the marshal fired two bullets into the fleeing negro, killing him instantly. Following the marshal's death citizens surrounded the body of the negro in kerosene oil and burned it.

Mr. Vance's successor as marshal was to have been installed last night. Just before the time set for the installation of new official H. T. Vance was requested to arrest a negro tramp who was loitering in front of the Finch, was ordered to throw up his hands and he did so with the right hand, shooting the marshal twice. The negro died instantly from the return fire of the marshal, who died before physicians could be summoned.

PRESIDENT GIVES CANDY TO CHILDREN ON ROAD They Have Been Waving at Him Each Day As He Passed

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss, Jan. 7.—President Wilson today demonstrated his fondness for children by assuming the role of a belated Santa Claus, distributing boxes of Christmas candy to the youngsters along the coast of the Gulfport golf links. Since coming here the president has made warm friends of the children who daily have run to their front gates to wave greetings to the nation's chief executive.

Today there were many expressions of delighted surprise at home along the route when the big White House automobile stopped and a secret service man appeared at the doors with boxes of candy to present them with compliments from the resident to his little friends.

MOTHER SUFFERS BURNS WHILE RESCUING CHILD

Mrs. Brown Milligan, of Moultrie, and Young Daughter Injured

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MOULTRIE, Ga., Jan. 7.—Little Roxie Milligan, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brown Milligan, was badly burned Tuesday evening, and her mother, Mrs. Milligan, was suffering from painful burns received while rescuing the child from a fire.

The mother had washed the little girl's hair and left her alone in the room to dry while she stepped out of the house. Screams of the daughter woke her back to the child being almost enveloped in flames. The mother almost crazed by fright, set her own clothing on fire while saving the child, who was rescued by the flames.

The injured parties are being treated by the attending physician at either case will prove fatal.

JUDGE PARKER WILL NOT ENTER CONGRESS RACE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
WAYCROSS, Ga., Jan. 7.—Waycross will have no candidate in the Eleventh district congressional race, according to Congressman J. B. Walker. T. A. Gresham, who has been named as the Waycross circuit, declared today that under no circumstances would he become a candidate. His friends promised him an ample campaign fund, and he had been informed that no other candidate would run if he would announce.

When he resigned as judge, he was generally understood. Judge Parker would be a candidate. He ran against Mr. Walker two years ago.

HIRAM W. JOHNSON TO REMAIN IN POLITICS

(By Associated Press.)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 7.—Hiram W. Johnson announced today that he would not re-election as governor of California. He had announced recently that he desired to retire from politics because of failing health. He finally decided to stay in politics, he said, "to save the Progressive state machine," as it was popularly understood.

BANKS COUNTY FARMERS HAPPY OVER PROSPECTS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
BALDWIN, Ga., Jan. 7.—The farmers and business men of Banks county enter the new year under very satisfactory conditions. Nearly all of the crops of the past year were abundant and farmers generally are prosperous.

The cotton crop of Banks county will probably be around 2,000 bales larger than 1913. The business men have had a good business, many old accounts having been paid.

Playmates of Childhood Now See World Together

C. E. MERCHANT and D. JOHNSON, Playmates in boyhood, on their fathers' farms in Michigan, they still are playmates at sixty, and are seeing adventure on a wagon trip from home down into Florida.

Some fifty years ago Al D. Johnson and Charley H. Merchant were playmates on their fathers' farms near the C. E. Merchants. The road of half a century and hunting and skating together, and doubtless played truant from school together sometimes. They hunted imagined Indians in the back pastures and were comrades in all sorts of boyish adventure.

Last Friday, now grown to men of sixty, they arrived in Atlanta together, still playmates, still adventurous, still believing that beyond the next hill wait wonders.

They came in a wagon loaded with stove and bedding and with cooking and dining utensils. The road of half a dozen states was on their vehicle. Their four horses are resting now in a lively stable on Marietta street, waiting for the playmates have seen enough of Atlanta. In a couple of days or so they will be on their way south, bound for Florida.

"It's not going to any place in particular," said Al D. Johnson, who must have been the leader of the pair half a century ago. "There are several Michigan colonies in Florida, but we are not bound for any of them. We are just bent on seeing the country."

His friend Charley H. Merchant, who Johnson talked interestingly and with youthful enthusiasm of the things they saw along the road through Indiana and Kentucky and Tennessee. He had traveled much, he said, through California, and through much of the other western states. Sometimes he travels by wagon, sometimes by rail, and sometimes by foot. He had not decided yet whether to go to the west or to the east.

"I've got two married children," he said. "When they married I pulled out to see the world, and I wanted to go west, and for several years I just knocked around and couldn't do it, and I did. They kept writing to me to come home and live with them, and I said after I got to be sixty I would, but home three weeks ago." He asked, turning to his companion.

Mr. Merchant smiled. "I've got a son and seven children on the farm up there now. I don't want to hear him talk about all those things he's been seeing. I just wanted to get out and see some of 'em myself."

Both going west, the two friends decided to go to Florida and meet up there, even if they had to go to the end of the world. But he said, "You go on and on, and maybe I'll go with you next winter."

Mr. Johnson put in, "I'll go with you next winter. I'll go with you next winter. I'll go with you next winter."

BOTH GOING WEST.

"Yes, we're going west next year," added Mr. Merchant.

John Henry Muldoon, of Atlanta, was elected historian of the freshmen class this morning, to fill the vacancy caused by Jack Starnes, of Valdosta, who returned to his college.

By February enlargement of the House office building to accommodate the increased membership will be completed. On the inner ward sides forty-eight rooms have been built and eight more added on the third floor. Making in all 470 rooms available for both individual members and committee rooms.

RAILROADS ARE STUMPED BY COMMISSION'S QUIZ

Attorneys for 52 Roads Urge Difficulty in Answering Some of 73 Questions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Attorneys representing fifty-two eastern railroads applying to the interstate commerce commission for a 5 per cent increase in freight rates had a hearing today before the commission's hearing committee on the construction and interpretation of certain questions the commission asked the railroads.

The commission had asked the railroads to answer seventy-three questions during January. Testimony today by various officials under questioning by Mr. Patterson indicated it would be highly expensive in some cases and physically impossible in others to comply with the request by the time given.

For the New York Central it was expressed that to answer the questions about lightening at New York would cost for the time being to require one year. Louis D. Brandeis, acting as chief counsel for the commission, suggested that a representative month be selected and an answer be prepared on that basis. The railroad officials seemed to approve the idea.

To answer the commission's question about contracts for material, it was said on behalf of the Baltimore and Ohio that it would involve a review of 100,000 transactions. The railroad offered to submit affidavits of contracts. Mr. Brandeis agreed to this.

BUCHU FINE FOR CLOGGED KIDNEYS

Mixed With Juniper Is Good for Clogged Kidneys and Backache.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. In the kidney region, severe headaches, dizziness, backache, tired liver, stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of other troubles.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get a 14 oz. bottle of Stuart's Buchu and Juniper from any drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water three or four times a day and your kidneys will then act like new.

Stuart's Buchu and Juniper is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Everybody should take Stuart's Buchu and Juniper. It is a safe, reliable, and harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Stuart's Buchu and Juniper in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—(Adv.)

"States Alone Control There," McReynolds' Statement on
New Haven Railroad

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Reorganization of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad took a new turn today when a committee representing the views of that organization on the whole transportation problem in New England, to Attorney General McReynolds.

The attorney general said the Boston business men discussed particularly the extent of holdings of Boston and Maine stock and stock of other corporations affiliated with the New Haven. In that section they feared the effect a reorganization of the Boston and Maine might have on New England business.

Mr. McReynolds would make no statement as to whether the Boston and Maine reorganization plan was sufficient time given to market without loss of securities held by it.

The attorney general said it is plain that the department has not yet determined whether it would prosecute criminally former officers and directors of the New Haven road.

The department of justice issued this statement.

"The department of justice is constantly receiving letters inquiring why it does not direct the prosecution of officers and directors who have been responsible for the financial irregularities in the management of railroads, and has declined from time to time.

"These inquiries proceed from a mistaken but very common view of the powers of the department of justice. There is no law under which it can prosecute the officers, directors or other agents of a railroad company for irregularities in the management of the company, since congress has not undertaken to regulate the issuance of securities by corporations created by the states, the conduct of fiduciary relations of their officers, but has left these matters to the states, respectively."

LEUTENANT COLONEL IS HELD AS P. O. ROBBER

Walter Sammons, High in Nebraska National Guard,
Involved by Story

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Jan. 7.—Walter Sammons, former sheriff of Buffalo county, Nebraska, and a member of the Nebraska national guard and former army captain, was held today by the federal court under a writ of habeas corpus, on the charge of the Kearney, Neb., postoffice on the night of December 21.

Robert Smith, an employee of the postoffice, testified at Sammons' hearing that the arrival of a $10,000 check, $1,000 in currency had been discussed by the two men. Smith said that this package, in addition to six others valued at $17,500, was stolen from the postoffice.

Smith said he gave Sammons the combination to the safe and also the key to the postoffice, which was returned to him. This was done.

Sammons denied his guilt and declared the case is the subject of a political controversy.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—An operation declared by surgeons to be unique in the annals of surgery in this country was performed here yesterday, when the aorta of a woman was opened and a clot of blood, which had been impeding circulation, was removed. Dr. Francis T. Stewart, famous for operations he has performed on the heart, was the operating surgeon.

A three-quarter inch incision was made in the great artery close to the heart, and the blood clot, which lay beyond the opening, was expelled by pressure.

Before the operation there was no perceptible pulse below the section in which the clot lodged. After the clot had been removed a pulse was observed in both legs. Physicians declared the woman's life will be saved, although the right leg may have to be amputated.

LIVER AND BOWELS
Get a 10-cent box now.
Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartics or pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul acids, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascarets tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too. A Sale of Blankets and Comfortables
The Blankets Are Slightly Soiled

We have been going through the blankets and comfortables these last few days, reducing every pair of blankets that was not perfectly fresh, and odd comfortables (although they were as fresh as the morning.)

So tomorrow a sale!
The blankets are not hurt, they are simply not so fresh as they must be to warrant regular prices.

And the soil is confined to the outer fold—it comes from handling and from display, as will happen in the best regulated household. However, it is your profit.

The reductions are greater than warranted.

SCHOOL FOR BOY THIEVES IS EXPOSED BY PRISONER

Negro Youngster, Captured by Police, Tells of Organized Gang and Instructor

A thirteen-year-old negro boy, caught by officers after he had snatched a lady's purse, made a startling confession to the police Tuesday night, disclosing the existence of an organized band of snatch thieves, headed by a modern Fast.

From the boy the police learned the location of the gang's den, where considerable loot was stored, and already another alleged member of the body of young criminals has been arrested. The police are confident that in the next forty-eight hours the remaining gangster will fall into their hands.

To Mrs. J. A. Miller, of 133-A West Fair street, the police largely owe the capture of the boy, whose confession probably means the breaking up of the gang which has made the Atlanta unsafe for ladies returning to their homes about dark.

Mrs. Miller's purse was snatched by one of the members of the gang, who, as she rode in a taxicab, was passing the corner of Peachtree and Peachtree streets. She gave chase, shouting for help, and John Albert, of 248 Broadway street, joined her, capturing the boy, Robert, Graham. The other gangsters started to attempt a rescue, but were frightened off when Albert exhibited a sovereign badge, and most of them think he was an officer.

According to the boy's confession there are six members of the gang, besides the master criminal, who is the head of the organization and the instructor. Recruits must take a fearful oath of secrecy at which, according to Graham's story, a violation is punishable by death.

As the result of the confession one alleged member of the gang, Ernoch Williams, aged ten years, was placed under arrest at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning.

He had crept into the gang's headquarters, a place in the walls of a wholesale grocery house on the Court and street viaduct, to sleep, when officers, headed by Chief E. J. Lett, took him in.

The Graham boy confessed specifically in a number of recent robberies. He stated that he had been with the gang only two weeks and didn't know of any crimes beyond that date.

CONFESSES TO THIEVES.
Among the thefts to which the negro confessed are:

The robbery of Miss Rose Wagner's handbag Monday night on Rawdon street between Peachtree and Washington. He told where his leader had deposited the bag in an alley off Central avenue, near Rawdon.

The robbery of the handbags of Miss Lettie Rowden, of 115 Peachtree street, which occurred at Central avenue and District street. The robbery of the bag belonging to Mrs. B. H. Ballentine, of the Francis apartments, Saturday night at Peachtree street and Baker.

Also the robbery of handbags Saturday night, belonging to Mrs. C. C. Pritchard, of 207 1/2 street; Miss M. E. Brooks, of 21 East Alexander street, and of Miss Louisa Hartsfield, of 23 Courtland street.

The executive committee in charge of the meeting met Tuesday afternoon to complete plans for the event. As a result of that conference, Mrs. John Marshall states, Mrs. William H. Neal and other prominent women of the city who are interested in improved working conditions will be invited to address the meeting.

WARM WEATHER IS THE FORECAST FOR THURSDAY

Temperature Stood at 30 on Wednesday Morning, but Rise Began at Once Warmer weather is on its way to Atlanta, says the weather man, and there is to be an increase in temperature Thursday.

According to his forecast it will be a day to get warmer Wednesday night and probably will not go below freezing on Thursday. It will be even warmer.

Wednesday morning the thermometer registered only 30 degrees. Toward noon there was a considerable rise in temperature the mercury standing at 45.

WORMSHEM REVIEWS HIS ENTOMOLOGICAL WORK

State Entomologist E. Lee Worsheam had his annual report Tuesday afternoon to the state board of entomology, which held its quarterly meeting at the Capitol. This report showed the department of entomology had done excellent work for the agricultural interests of Georgia in the past year and planned still greater things for the coming year.

Members of the board of entomology were: J. T. Williams, of Rome; C. C. Davenport, of the Georgia Agricultural Society; R. P. Beckman, of Augusta, president of the Georgia Horticultural Society; and J. D. Price, commissioner of agriculture.

MRS. ANNIE ORMOND WAS BURIED ON WEDNESDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Austin Ormond took place Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the chapel of Barclay & Brundage, 312 Peachtree street.

Rev. C. B. Wilmer, pastor of St. Luke's church, officiated. Messrs. J. R. Compton, E. E. Austin, H. H. Austin, A. J. Hanes, C. C. White and T. J. Walker were the pallbearers. Interment was in Oakland cemetery.

James L. and C. N. Anderson, former members of the law firm of J. L. Anderson, Cotton & Whitman, have formed a separate partnership under the style of J. L. & C. N. Anderson, with offices at 303-305 Hurt building. They will continue to operate the Anderson Mercantile agency.

Youngster's Playground Is in Heart Of Atlanta Atop the Piedmont Hotel

On this wheel he speeds around the silent corridors of the Piedmont hotel.

Young Lear Dutton Finds Health and Strength in His Playground in the Skies

It is rather tough on a youngster to have no playground but the roof of a big hotel, so race track but its corridors so swing but one perched next to a big chimney high in the air, no ball ground just the gravel diamond many stories above the roar of Peachtree traffic.

Yet young Lear Dutton's red cheeks, sturdy muscles and merry smile belie any theories that a growing boy cannot be well and happy without woods and fields and plenty of room to kick around in.

Lear is the little son of H. N. Dutton, manager of the Piedmont hotel. The eighth floor of the Piedmont is his playground, the roof of his stamping ground.

In summer time Lear can be "fired" around the roof as much as he pleases. Just so the ball doesn't light on top of the Chandler building or knock the eye out of a young blood standing on Nunnally's corner.

But these cool winter days he spends most of his time tumbling the bicycle, past dark doors and darker corners, rip around corners, scare old ladies out of their wits, tickle elevator boys and have a regular kid's time in a regular life way.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU NOW IS UP TO CITY COUNCIL

Municipal Department to Serve Vagrant and Unemployed Is Proposed

The establishment of a municipal employment bureau in Atlanta, a movement begun and fostered by the Georgia Labor Circle of King's Daughters and sons, is in a fair way to be accomplished.

An ordinance providing for a bureau where the city's unemployed will be given an opportunity to get in touch with gainful work has been introduced in council and is now in the hands of a committee.

The purpose of the bureau will be to help the unemployed by giving them work, and to relieve the police and probation departments of many cases and reduce want and distress in Atlanta to a minimum.

SHARP DEAL CHARGED TO A VIRGINIAN HERE

After borrowing $40 to buy a Christmas present for his little girl, C. H. Waggoner, of Blue Field, W. Va., repaid our with a large check for $60, getting $20 in good change, according to the story Mrs. R. A. Alexander, owner of a grocery store at 371 Lee street, told to Recorder Broyles Tuesday morning.

Waggoner was arraigned on the charge of cheating and swindling. He made no plea for clemency and was bound over under $500 bond.

WHO'S TO BUY BOOKS FOR ATLANTA'S PUBLIC LIBRARY?

Miss Wootton Thinks Purchasing Agent Knows Too Little of Needs

Shall new books for the Carnegie library be purchased by the librarian, Miss Katherine Wootton, or by the city's new purchasing agent, W. E. Chambers?

The issue is raised, and it must be settled.

Miss Wootton takes the position that the purchasing agent doesn't know anything about the question of what new books the library needs, and probably doesn't care to be bothered with the job of finding out.

And Councilman A. W. Faringer, the new chairman of the library committee, of course contends that the city buys in the way of supplies, from a paper of five to a list of automobiles, should be bought through the purchasing department—new books for the library included.

The ordinance creating the office of purchasing agent provides that all supplies must be purchased by him, and prescribes the manner in which he shall proceed, such as getting competitive bids, etc.

Councilman Faringer thinks no exception should be made. He is willing to grant that these would come under the "best of legitimate exceptions, if there were any, but he is opposed to making a single exception.

Mayor Woodward was frank to admit the question "stumped" him when presented Tuesday morning.

"True, as Miss Wootton says, the purchasing agent doesn't know anything about the new books needed for the library," said he, "but at the same time I am especially anxious to find out the purchase of supplies, and I am afraid if I should make an exception of the library, it would set a precedent in favor of other departments which would not be satisfied we can adjust the matter satisfactorily by simply asking him to submit to the purchasing agent once a week, or once a day if necessary, a list of the new books needed, and then he can buy them."

KEEN CHOSEN TO HEAD ATLANTA HOTEL MEN

A. R. Keen, manager of the Georgian Terrace, is president and J. P. Lott, manager of the new Hotel Anson, vice president of the Atlanta Hotel Men's association. Their election to these respective offices resulted at the annual meeting Tuesday night.

The executive committee is composed of J. Lee Barnes, the Majestic; James H. N. Dutton, the Piedmont; Charles T. Edmondson, the Empire; James T. Williams, the Grand; J. C. Brown, the New Kimball; Leo M. Jordan, the Hotel Anson; and Fred Houser, who will be the secretary-treasurer for another year.

The members of the association were tendered banquet by Manager Lott.

A. B. & A. OFFICERS FORESEE DEVELOPMENT

Semi-Annual Conference in Atlanta Ended Tuesday—Operation Details Discussed

All the principal agents, traffic representatives, division superintendents and operating officials of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad were in Atlanta the first part of this week at the semi-annual conference with the general officers of the road, discussing matters pertaining to operation, traffic, schedules and improvement in service.

The conference began Monday in the offices in the Austell building. The final meeting was held Tuesday night. The visitors were the guests of E. T. Lamb, receiver and general manager of the road, at a luncheon in the Capital City club Monday.

A spirit of prosperity prevailed at all the discussions. Agents reported ideal running conditions in all territory covered by the A. B. & A. and predicted remarkable development during the coming year.

DINNER TO BE GIVEN FOR MERCHANTS AND BUYERS

A banquet to the merchants and buyers of Atlanta will be given Thursday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock at the Piedmont hotel by J. L. Warman, city salesman for the Hagan-Malone company.

This is the sixth annual banquet at which Mr. Warman has been host. Plates will be laid for ninety. There will be music by the Piedmont orchestra, and leader Mr. Warman, the following will speak: Lloyd B. Parks, of the Parks-Chambers-Harwick company; C. H. Esig, of Esig Bros.; W. H. Brittain, of the J. M. High company; J. R. Smith, of Smith & Higgins; R. T. Moon, of the Moon Shoe and Hosiery store.

Landon to Lecture

Sidney Landon, known to Lyceum patrons as "Happy Sid," will be the next number on the Alhambra Lyceum course, appearing at the Baptist Tabernacle auditorium Monday evening, January 12, in a humorous character portrayal of great literary men, past and present.

SAVANNAH ROTARY CLUB WAS ORGANIZED TUESDAY

Through the efforts of Ben Lee Crew, of Atlanta, the Savannah Rotary club was organized in the coast city Tuesday afternoon while the Atlanta branch of the organization lunched at the Piedmont hotel.

During the spread President Hubert Anderson read a telegram from Mr. Crew, telling of the successful launching of the club in Savannah with twenty-one charter members.

An address on "Modern Dental Science," by Rutan F. O. Foster, followed the Atlanta meeting.

AD MEN TO HEAR OF STATE'S FARM WEALTH

At a luncheon to be held at the Hotel Vinewood Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock the Atlanta Ad Men will hear an address by Commissioner of Agriculture James D.
